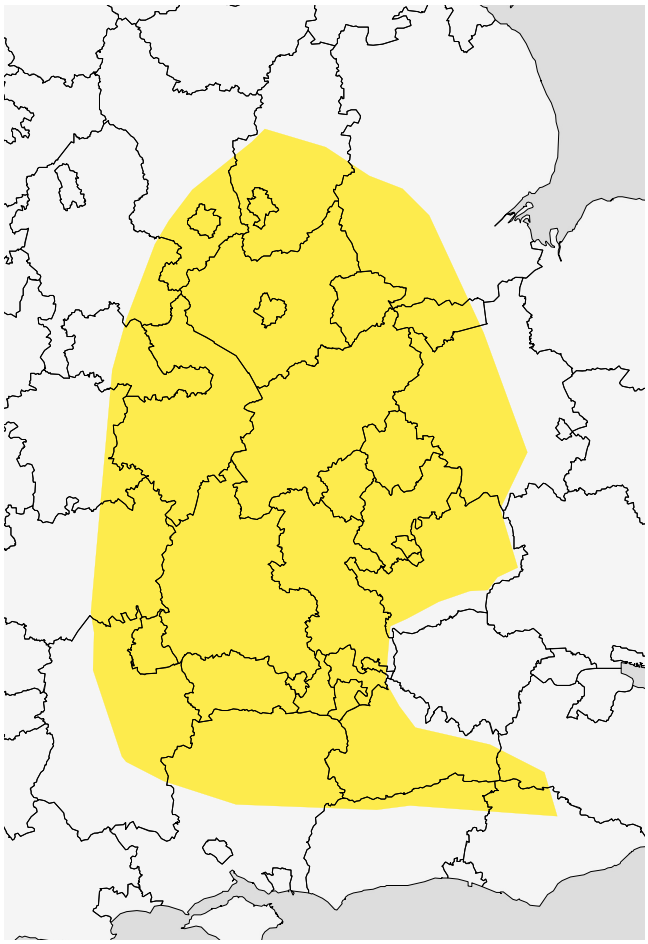
Yellow warning
Snow

Between
00:00 Sat 27 Nov 2021 and
10:00 Sat 27 Nov 2021



Whilst most areas will see spells of rain there is a small chance of this turning to snow on Saturday morning leading to some disruption

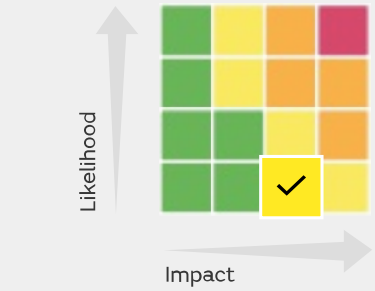
What to expect

- There is a small chance of travel delays on roads with some stranded vehicles and passengers, along with delayed or cancelled rail and air travel
- There is a slight chance that some rural communities could become cut off
- There is a small chance that power cuts will occur and other services, such as mobile phone coverage, may be affected

Further details

An area of rain will move southwards across central, southern and southeast England on Saturday morning. Whilst this is expected to be mostly of rain there is a chance that this will turn to snow in places, even to low levels.

There is a chance of 2-5 cm of snow falling in some locations and perhaps up to 8 cm over some of the higher ground above 150-200 m. Were this to occur some disruption is likely but this would be short lived with any snow melting during the morning.



Very low likelihood of medium impacts
